REVENUE APPOINTMENTS.

Commissioner Delano will have an appliance with the President to-morrow, during which a number of important revenue sppointments will be determined upon.

WHY ADMIRAL ROFF WAS REMOVED.

The action of the government in relieving Admiral Hoff of the command of the North Atlantic squadron was because of his unhild-den sympathy with the Spanish government in its efforts to suppress the Cuban insurgents. Cuban sympathisers here are much gratified with the order placing Admiral Hoor in command of the squadron. The substance of the instructions to him by the Government is to keep a sharp lookout for American interests and report promptly everything which comes under his observation.

The fact has leaked out that during the recent visit of Judge Deat to Long Branch, with several Mississippians to see the President, the interview was not a very pleasant one, as the Tresident privately informed Judge Dent teat he could not support him, as the nominee of the Conservative Republican party; but that on the contrary he would on all in his power to secure the success of the Radical ticket. He further informed Dent that he had already been much censured on account of the estatement that he would give to kin the support of the administration, and he wished it understood now that he would not give his support to him or any other relative, as he was tired of getting himself into trouble on account of his family, agas, galary CLIRGE GLORE TREEN A NOTEMBER.

Selipen Parts Hagen,

A process has recently been announced in Europe for imitating the grains of wood of different kinds with the most perfect exactions, which consists in using a pleas of the wood to be initiated as a plate for taking off an accurate impressin of the texture. To do this, a piece of wood sielected of fine quality and approved grain, above fire feel tong, twelve incide wides and a quarier of an inchatick, well eleaned upon both sides, and made smooth with med saper. A chemical preparation is then applied to the wood, which has the effect of opening the poires and at the same time hardening fits surface; and when the board thus prepared is theroughly dried, it constitutes a wood pitts his primiting. The materials with which the impression is to be made in prepared is oil, and as especially adapted for transferring. The paint is applied to the body hy means of a roller, any esperiment quantity of point being reasons of with a palleria. The stand gapier, prepared expressity, is then hald drer the board and both are passed through the rollers; and when the paper is atripped off from the wood it carries with it all the paint, marked off with the grains of the wood. The paper is then applied to the surface on which the imination is to be effected, with this painted side downwards, of course, and the back of the impressions is lightly robbed with a place of soft financel. On strapping off the paper a fac simile of the board is left behind. The other details of the process are given at length in the account of which the pressure is only an abstract, and we presume that if not already introduced into this country it come will be and employed largely for decorative purposes.

IV. Offeebach.

The Fall Mill Gazette speaking of the Bouffe music now raging in London says: We will not affire that M. Offeebach is the great est composer in Europe. But we are quite sure that he is the most popular; and when a composer's works, good or bad, are played in every. European capital, and reviewed and played again, and always with success, be becomes a fit endject for criticiam, if only in the character of a phenomenon. Otherwise it would be droil, it would bed fit roug, to talk of M. Offenbach and his two or three styles. Nervetheloss, M. Offenbach, like most composers and writers, tried his hand in various styles before he arrived at that perfection of Offenbachianism which is manifested in "La Gande Duchesse." He began his caver as a performer on the violoncies considered as a of Offentaminans which is manifested in "La Ganade Dychesse." He began his carves as a performer on the violoncelic considered as a violin. That is to say, he ditted his instrument with this strings, and played florid violin ma-sic on it. Then he set a number of La Fen-tsine's fables to music—a happy idea. At the Theater Francais, where he was some time side conductor of the aventure he required. These repareds, where he was some time the conductor of the orehestra, he produced several interludes or centractes, apropos of netiging in particular. One of these instrumental pieces was regained by a no less competent critic than the late Adolphe Adams at the work of Mayerbeer-or was at least described by him as such. Off shach has often loved to save y feverbeer, and in the production in work of Meyerbeer—or was at least described and most every other disease—slicer, in usacy, paralysis, opinal affections, suicide, and almost every other fissess which bemanity is helf to, and the real cause of the trouble searcely ever suspected, and have decioned for all but the right one.
